More proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saves woman from surgical operations.

Mrs. S. A. Williams, of Gardiner, Maine, writes:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles. I suffered from female troubles, a tumor and much inflammation. Two of the best physicians in Chicago said that an operation was necessary to save my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely cured me without an operation."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulcerations, tumors, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that hearing, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

LOCAL SOLDIERS GO OFF DUTY

Succeeded by a Squad of Mountain Men From Middlesboro.

UNDER MAJ. ALBRECHT.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—Owing to the recent outrages by night riders Gen. P. P. Johnston, Adjutant General, has placed into the hands of citizens of the tobacco districts where lawlessness has occurred arms and ammunition with which to protect themselves. Some time ago Gen. Johnston detached guns and high-power cartridges. To-day he ordered the high-power cartridges returned and sent in their place "mob ammunition," which is extremely deadly at 150 yards. It is guaranteed to stop any mob.

Gen. Johnston ordered Maj. Bassett and the Hopkinsville company relieved from duty in that city. Orders have been issued detaching Maj. G. W. Albrecht from the Board of Survey and sending him to Hopkinsville as the head of a detachment of fifteen men from the Middlesboro company.

The above dispatch from Frankfort came as a surprise to the people of Hopkinsville Thursday. Mayor Meacham happened to be in Frankfort that day and learned from Gen. Johnston that the change had been decided upon early in the week and that Maj. Albrecht left for Middlesboro that day and would start as soon as possible, arriving at Hopkinsville before the end of the week. Maj. Albrecht will be in charge with one or two other officers and 15 men, leaving about 18 soldiers. Co. D. was on duty from Dec. 7 to Dec. 17, when Co. II, of Louisville, relieved the local company and served until Jan. 14, when Co. D. was again assigned to duty, and a few days later the soldiers were reduced to a detail of 20 men and three officers. Maj. Bassett is glad to be relieved, but the soldier boys have been willingly and cheerfully performing their duties and would gladly continue their faithful service.

The change has been made as a result of a conference between Gen. Johnston and Gen. Hughes. The probable reason is to distribute the active service, giving the Second Regiment some of the field work.

ANOTHER RAID BY NIGHT RIDERS

Lucian Means Called From His Home And Beaten With Whips.

LIVES NEAR THIS CITY.

Teen Masked Men Were in The Gang, all Heavily Armed.

A gang of night riders visited the home of Lucian W. Means, three miles from town on the Princeton road Wednesday night, and whipped him with horsewhips. There were 16 men in the gang, armed with shotguns and pistols. Some had masks on and others had their faces blackened. They wore the regulation white patches on their shoulders. The gang came on horseback and hitched their horses at the road. Two men went to the house and knocked on the door and called to Mr. Means to come out, threatening to dynamite the house if he did not, saying he would not be hurt. He went out and was escorted to the gate. He was asked if he belonged to the association and told them he did not. He was also asked if he had divided a share crop and sold his part, which he admitted. They then struck him a dozen or more times with a whip, three men taking part. After ordering him to join the association they left. No shots were fired. The men cut the telephone wires in the vicinity.

Mr. Means is about 55 years old and has a large family. He is a poor and hard-working farmer and a devout member of the Methodist church.

WIDOWS & WIDOWERS

Were Married by Judge Prowse Thursday.

Two couples were married Thursday by County Judge Prowse. Richard Stewart and Mrs. Josie Stewart, both of Gracey, and John B. Wicks and Mrs. Lou Crick, of Nortonville, came to the city and secured license to marry. Judge Prowse officiated in both instances.

Buried Here.

The remains of Mrs. Sarah Campbell, of Louisville, widow of the late Wm. M. Campbell, a former citizen of Hopkinsville, arrived here yesterday over the I. C. from Kenosha, Wis. Mrs. Campbell had been under treatment in a hospital in Kenosha, where she died, aged 69 years. Funeral services were held at the Episcopal church and the interment was in Riverside cemetery.

The Athenaeum.

The February meeting of the Athenaeum was held Thursday night, with less than half a dozen of the 29 members absent. Col. Jouett Henry had an interesting paper on "Target Shooting By the Army." He described the contests of which he acted as judge last year.

Rev. W. L. Nourse read a very learned paper on "The Ideal Man." Chas. M. Meacham read a descriptive paper on "The Yellowstone Park."

An informal discussion of the papers followed. The resignation of Hon. Denny P. Smith was accepted and Messrs. Jno. E. Byars and S. Y. Trimble were elected to membership, bringing the number up to the limit of 30.

FIRE MARSHAL TO INVESTIGATE

Will Begin Work Monday, Assisted by Federal Officer.

SIGNIFICANT MOVES.

Army Man Also Detailed as Acting Adjutant General.

Fire Marshal W. H. Neikirk (pronounced Nyikirk) will arrive in the city to-morrow to enter upon an investigation of the many fires that have occurred in this section of Kentucky during the last fourteen months. He will be accompanied by a Deputy U. S. Marshal to assist in the investigation, which will continue indefinitely. Adj. Gen. Johnson will be absent from the State, in Florida, for several weeks and by an arrangement with the war department, Maj. M. H. Hughes, a regular army officer from Columbia, Tenn., has been detailed to be acting Adjutant General until his return. This puts the State and Federal soldiers in close touch and this fact coupled with the fact that a deputy marshal will assist the Fire Marshal in the investigation to be begun Monday is significant.

Judge Neikirk, the Fire Marshal, is an experienced and successful lawyer of Springfield, Ky., more than 50 years of age. He is of athletic build, with a strong face, light

NIGHT RIDERS SHED BLOOD

And Burn a Barn at Adams, Tennessee.

BEAT UP A NEGRO.

Two Men Wounded In a Running Fight.

Adams, Tenn., Feb. 7.—Night Riders had a fight with H. C. Lawrence and Bradley Lawrence, his son, near here last night and finally destroyed 12,000 pounds of tobacco and burned the barn. Lawrence and son were loading the tobacco to send it away when 15 night riders approached and the Lawrences fired into them and ran to the house. The shots were returned and both of the Lawrences were slightly wounded. The night riders left, but soon returned in larger numbers and fired 70 or 80 shots into the house. They then went to the barn, blew up the tobacco, killed a horse and burned the barn.

The Lawrences are not members of the Association. The same gang took a negro crupper out and gave him a severe beating.

HELPS THE TRUSTS

ERROR TOO FREQUENTLY MADE BY THE FARMER.

BUYS THROUGH MAIL ORDER

And in Doing So Contributes Toward Capital Concentration in the Big Financial Centers, to His Great Injury.

Lord bless the American farmer. He is one of the nabobs of creation and he hardly knows it. In a single year his work adds to the wealth of the nation more by a hundredfold than all the mines of the country. He gives to the world twice the value in crops and produce than the output all the factories and mills of the world produce. He supplies the Americans to keep the wheels of progress in motion, and if he only knew it could buy and sell a few hundred Rockefellers, and still have enough left to purchase a few kingdoms as large as Spain. Yet it must be admitted that this great American farmer needs some enlightenment as to the great economics. While he is the king of wealth, he is also a lot of it sticks to his fingers, he is also a philanthropist and doesn't know it. He works hard to produce his wealth and then patronizes the machinery that lands a goodly portion of it in the coffers of the Captains of Finance who dictate things in Wall Street and elsewhere; in fact he is a slave to the market, to the money required to build up commercialism, the good philanthropic farmer is compelled to submit. He does it and he knows not that he doeth so. Every time the good tiller of the soil sends away to the big mail order house for his supplies, he does his mite toward capital concentration in the great financial centers, and his little mite seeks a resting place among the many held in reserve to meet the wants of the trusts. It is about time western farmers take a tumble to cold facts, and come to a realization that their interests are best subserved by keeping their earnings as close to their homes as possible.

Trade at Home.

Patronage of the big mail order houses is founded largely on short-sightedness and a desire to patronize of the get-rich-quick schemes. The buyer believes he is getting something for his money that is really not given, and fails to realize either where his money goes or what he gets for it.

No one would think of telephoning to a furniture store and asking the dealer to send a room dining room furniture without having a catalog, examined the chairs, or of ordering a dress or pair of shoes, or a stove in this way. Yet that is practically what the patron of the mail order house does. He orders by mail without having seen the goods or having any idea of their appearance or character. He is taken in by the offer of two things on which he has to base his conception of the articles ordered is a description in the catalogue and the cut given there. In other words, the attractiveness of the offer made depends on the promises of the firm and the engraver's art. It is possible to make a very creditable cut from a messy and worthless model. It is possible to describe an article in such a way that makes it appear most desirable. Incidentally it seems to be always possible to find some one who will accept the promise and cut at their face value, without properly discounting them and on the credibility of these people the mail order business thrives. A little investigation will show that the average person, the average person that his money will go further and yield greater returns if invested right here in Beverly, despite the fictitious values offered by the outside houses. But the articles sold by the mail order houses must be compared as they really are, and not as they are reputed to be in the catalogues.—Beverly (Mass.) Times.

Patronizing Home People.

An exchange says that war has been declared on the great catalogues houses of Chicago and other cities by the 600 retail merchants of the west. In one of the most striking economic movements this country has ever known the small dealers are fighting, they say, for their lives. The mammoth institutions, employing thousands, are doing their best to burn out entirely through the publication of their bulky catalogues, spending no money in the communities whence they derive annually millions of dollars of patronage, are forcing increasing numbers of home merchants to the wall and so their opponents claim, are "making commercial graveyards of once prosperous towns." People living in country towns ought to get wise and trade at home.—Philadelphia Episcopal Recorder.

Advertiser What You Have to Sell.

After all that has been said, or can be said about the mail order houses, let me say that the mail order houses are not to blame for the great number of small dealers who have gone into the trade and given the mail order houses in cities would come to them. A man we know recently made up a list of tools and hardware from one of the mail order catalogues and took it to a home dealer to get prices. He was surprised to find that he could get the same articles at home for less money and with the same charges, and also see the goods he was buying.—Clearfield (Pa.) Spirit.

GOODS MADE IN SWEATSHOPS.

Workers in Large Cities Compiled to Labor for Little Compensation.

The average resident of the small town or of the farming district has little conception of conditions which prevail among the working classes of the large cities. Now and then some article may appear in a magazine or newspaper relating to the "sweatshop" system, but few understand what this means. It is simple. The garment manufacturers and the garment industry, different articles of goods are made by contract for so-called manufacturers. The sweatshops are found in the closely crowded tenement districts, and generally are small rooms into which the workers are crowded. The different garments are cut out at another place, and are sent to the sweatshop together. The sweatshop, which is as a living place, is a workshop. Each worker receives so much per dozen for garments sewed, and the price is barely sufficient to pay living expenses. A woman will work all day sewing shirts together, and will receive $10 to $15 for her labor. Those who work in these places are compelled to the particular line, the ones who sew trousers, the same, and the costmakers and vestmakers are all confined to their particular classes of work. What they receive is so scaled down as to allow the poorest kind of an existence. These shops are controlled by men who dispose of their goods to houses which are controlled by similar dealers throughout the country. "Keep the price of production at the lowest" is the motto of these manufacturers, and the result is worn out and miserable women and children whose unfortunate circumstances compel them to do this labor in order to buy food.

Benighted associations and societies for the prevention of crime have recently tried to make these terrible places, but they manage to exist in every city of any size, particularly in eastern cities. People who live in the country can assist in preventing the operations of these shops by not patronizing any concerns which make extraordinary efforts in the line of clothing for men and women in cheap and cheap and low prices.

It is such concern that support the sweatshop. No reputable clothing dealer handles sweatshop goods. So therefore the entire output of the facties go to the concerns that do a miscellaneous class of business by mail throughout the country. It is only the very cheapest kinds of clothing that come from sweatshops.

The better classes are manufactured in large and roomy factories, where there is plenty of fresh air and light, and where men and women are paid good wages, and these are the classes of goods sold by the regular trade.

There is danger in wearing clothing made in the sweatshops, as owing to the closely crowded rooms and general dirtiness, germs of disease are plentiful, and it has been known that smallpox, measles, scarlet fever and other infectious diseases have been carried and spread throughout the country by clothing from these infected places.

Sale to Mail Order Houses.

Proprietors who sell mail order houses directly should, by every law means, be induced to discontinue the sale of sweatshop goods on the avenues. If desired results can be accomplished in no other way, the proprietors should be given the alternative of choosing between the retail druggists, the logical distributors of their goods, and the demoralizers named.

It is the opinion of your committee that druggists would receive more patronage if they would not proprietors. If aggressive efforts were made by each druggist individually to discourage the sale of products that are overpriced, those that are not protected in any way against price de-morализation, and those that are supplied by proprietors to mail order houses with full knowledge that they are to be sold to the consumer at what are known as "mail rates."

As for the details that are promptly forthcoming whenever this subject is broached to the proprietors that they are supplying mail order houses, the free use of electrotypes (illustrating certain lines of goods) as are constantly appearing in the catalogues of these houses, electrotypes that are identical with those the proprietors themselves are constantly using, certainly demands explanation.—Detroit

Retail Druggist.

Mail Order House Competition.

The competition of the mail order houses, one of the most threatening problems of the country druggist particularly, continues to grow. The providing of unusual means for competing with other concerns is imperative but exceedingly difficult at present. Conferences with commercial organizations in other lines of business concerning this matter are advocated, providing no legal entanglement would result therefrom.—Detroit Retail Druggist.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 6.—Beech Hargis this evening shot and almost instantly killed his father, Judge James Hargis, in the latter's store here.

Some few nights ago Judge Hargis forcibly remonstrated with his son on account of the latter's waywardness, and high and impassioned words are said to have passed between them.

Today Beech was drunk and walked into his father's store, and in a few moments his father lay on the floor, pierced by five bullets from his son's pistol.

No one seems to know the particulars of the tragedy. He was crazed with drink and claims he remembers nothing of the affair.

Elegantly Entertained.

Mrs. McAlvin Mabry, formerly Miss Willie Major, and husband left Wednesday morning, for their home near Bardwell, Ky., after having enjoyed some of Christian county's royal hospitality.

A six o'clock dinner was given at

Mr. and Mrs. John Young's. Miss

Gussie, a schoolmate, presided over the sumptuous and elegant repast, and in her natural, sweet and noble manner, saw that every one was well supplied; and afterward invited them into her parlor, where they were charmed by the songs and music of her talented sister, Mrs. Era

Garber.

They were also very elegantly entertained by Mesdames E. C. and

J. M. Major.

The community, though bereft of one of its most charming and lovable girls, congratulate her upon her noble selection and wish both of them God's best blessings.

TOOK MOSELLE AS STIMULANT.

Prince Bismarck Kept Waiters Busy During His Speeches.

Speaking of the different liquids favored by great orators for refreshment during their speeches, Griffith Boswell, in his book, "Fourteen Years in Parliament," credits Bismarck with having carried an army bottle with the label of eight lemon squashes. Never was a man and his drink more incongruous. All history protests against the idea of Bismarck even knowing what lemon squash is, for it was Bismarck who boasted to Sir William Richmond that in his young days six bottles of strong wine had been his daily diet. And when Bismarck who lamented: "Ah! English politics has suffered, since statesmen have no longer strong heads for wine. They are too cautious, never make a bold stroke." It was a mixture of Moselle and seltzer that Bismarck used in the rohstaz to keep his hoarseness down, according to the speech. The "schnupf" used to be maintained by a relay of waiters running between the chancellor's bench and the kitchen. At the zenith of his fame, ministers, secretaries of state and privy councillors were alone worthy to concoct the mixture, and when Bismarck was making his great speeches in the parliament, they never failed to be behind him with wine bottles and seltzer siphon in composing his drink for Bismarck required eighteen or two dozen glasses of Moselle and water during a speech.

NO DOUBT ABOUT OWNERSHIP.

Foxy Trick That Would Have Done Credit to Dave Harum.

In one of the small villages south of Cleveland is an old man who has all the David Harum gifts when it comes to trading, except that he runs to cows instead of to horses.

Not long ago he had a cow that looked like a first-rate sort of an animal, and it was noted for the fact that it didn't give any milk. What that exception the cow was all right.

The owner desired to sell the cow. One day a possible buyer said that he would come over and look at it. For the sake of putting the cow in a more favorable light the owner went out and bought a young calf, which he turned loose in the stable with it.

He was getting along nicely with the possible buyer, when a middle-aged neighbor across the way dropped in.

"John," says he, "that calf don't belong to this cow, does it?"

The owner was furious at the thought of having his game spoiled.

"Or you can have her!" he burst forth, hot. "I bought her and gave it to her myself in an hour ago!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

How Enola Got Its Name.

Enola, the famous Pennsylvania railroad yard on the west branch of the Susquehanna, got its name in a strange way.

A telegraph operator who spent the lonely hours in the little watch box, with nothing to do but sit and wait, would disturb him or break the monotony, before the big yard was built, called up the Baltimore office and asked to be relieved from such a lonesome place. In sending the message he signed "operator in charge of the tower all alone." There was some trouble on the wire and the last word got lost in the noise. He was asked to repeat and then to spell it backward. This he did, first "alone," then "Enola." In this way the town, which was built to order in a little more than two years, got its name.

The Dread Waterpot.

What it means to encounter a waterpot in the South seas is described by Beatrice Grimshaw: "First of all, a black trunk, like an elephant's, he began to feel absurdly fat in midair, having to strain his neck to catch his breath with unaccustomed difficulty, drawing up to itself as it came a colossal cone of turbulent sea, until the two joined together in an enormous black pillar some quarter of a mile broad at the base and probably a good thousand feet high, uniting as it did the clouds and the sea below. Across the darkness, against the background of a copper-crimson sunset came this gigantic horrid, writhing over troughs of torn-up water in a veritable dance of death, trying to find and shatter our fragile little ship."

Dangerous Enough.

Rear Admiral Mason, chief of the government's bureau of ordnance, talked of martial inventions at a recent dinner in Washington.

"Many of these inventions," he said, "are of the automatic torpedo class, their new explosives and what not, fail to take into account the danger to the users of their inventions. They are like the farmer and the bull."

"A farmer was driving a bull along a fairly busy country road.

"That's a dangerous-looking bull you have there, friend," a milkman said to the farmer.

"Oh, no," said the farmer; "he's just as civil as a sheep. He wouldn't hurt anybody, unless, maybe, women and children and such like."

Then Appeal.

"I must tell you frankly," said a lawyer to his client, "that I do not see the slightest chance of your winning this case."

"Why not?"

"Because the law on the point is against you."

"Is that all?" remarked the client.

"Then go ahead. The judges are not always right."

Large Number of Nets Used.

According to Consul-General Soren Liatso, of Rotterdam, about 100,000 nets are in use during the herring season on the 800 fishing boats of the Netherlands. A net costs about three dollars, but owing to losses from storms and other causes, between 40,000 and 50,000 new nets are purchased annually.

Good Advice to the Small Merchant Who Would Succeed.

The mail order question is one that of perennial importance to nearly every one of the smaller cities and villages in the land, although the danger that these institutions were bound to annihilate the smaller stores does not seem to be as great now as it was a few years ago. For instance, since the passage of the pure food law by congress many, if not all of the mail order people, have discontinued the selling of groceries. It was plain in this case that there was a considerable amount of adulteration in the goods, and the smaller order houses would not have taken this step.

There are aspects of the mail order question which may well give hope to the local dealer. The facts in the case are that the catalogue houses are not enjoying an unmitigated clench for they are handicapped in many ways in which the country merchant is not. For instance, the entire country press almost without exception is closed to mail order advertising. Here is a distinct advantage for the home merchant, although sometimes he is somewhat slow in taking advantage of it. He is fossilized and walking around to pay funeral expenses in a popular way. But, if he will do this, he will spring that ancient chestnut that "it doesn't pay" to advertise. But let the newspaper man take an ad from a mail order house and place it in the remotest corner of his paper, and this same business man will be apt to object very strongly.

The mail order houses have at various times been very successful, and have been badly handicapped by having virtually only the magazines and the catalogues to tell their story. If the merchants of to-day expect to cope with the mail order houses and hold a fair share of the trade that they ought to get, it means that they will have to be more intelligent in advertising space. Furthermore, they will have to advertise intelligently and in accordance with twentieth century standards. Don't spring the ancient gag about having been in business so many years. The people don't care a rap how long you have been in business. They are interested mainly in two things: what goods have you got? Second, what do they cost? Unless your advertising deals with these questions, it will be as sounding brass or tinkling cymbal. The mail order houses have built up trade by doing just these things, and their glowing descriptions and prices have done the business.—San Antonio (Tex.) Light.

Individual Vs. Corporation.

A well-known eastern financier, for some time the president of a large trust company, recently resigned, giving as his reason that a man, according to his belief, can do better work for himself than for a corporation and earn a salary equal to what he can make in business for himself. In these days when all kinds of business are being converted into corporations, the number of trades in which a man may engage in business for himself have become so few that for a great many men the only way of making a living is to be employed by a corporation, which in other years would have been sufficient to make them their own masters, there is now no other opening than that of service for some corporation. For the bulk of the people, outside of those in agricultural pursuits, it is almost impossible to live or to earn a living at all. The truth is becoming more evident day by day. Even the farmers are feeling the grasp of corporate methods. It is true that millions must have the products of his lands and his hands, but the corporations are the medium he must work through, and since they exact their tithings. It is true that the individual is well as well as the laborer in every walk and sphere, to prevent as far as possible further encroachment of organized capital, and this can be done by as far as possible keeping the dollars that you earn in circulation in the community where earned and thus prevent the further concentration of money and of business in the great cities.

Pet in a Good Word.

Lord Arlington was arrested the other day in England for speeding the police in court the next day: "His lordship is most civil, in fact, it was a pleasure to meet him and that is more than can be said of some motorists." Still, his lordship had to pay a fine of $15 and costs.

Raised in Rank.

Sir Chentung Liang-cheng, until recently Chinese minister at Washington, has been received by the emperor in audience for three successive days. He had been recalled from the first rank and reinstated as director of the Southern railroad, with headquarters at "Ingham. He will also act as traffic superintendent.

Large Number of Nets Used.

According to Consul-General Soren Liatso, of Rotterdam, about 100,000 nets are in use during the herring season on the 800 fishing boats of the Netherlands. A net costs about three dollars, but owing to losses from storms and other causes, between 40,000 and 50,000 new nets are purchased annually.

In Paris dogs are treated as well as human beings and wear coats and mobile tags when they go motorizing. They have a hospital, and they even have a good-sized cemetery, with monuments and headstones and inscriptions and mortuary wreaths.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every 3 minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy, some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drooping, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. W. L. Bailey, living on east Greenville st. Madisonville, Ky. says: "It is four years since I recommended Doan's Kidney pills through our papers and my confidence in them during the time which has elapsed has not been shaken in the least, on the contrary I learned more about them and can recommend them even more strongly. I said at that time that Mr. Bailey had suffered from kidney complaint off and on for a number of years, and had used almost every known remedy for this trouble but nothing brought permanent results. He finally learned of Doan's Kidney pills and got a box. They benefited him in every way, so that all the other kidney medicines he had tried, had failed him. He has used them many times during the past four years, and they have never failed to give him relief from these severe attacks. I have used Doan's Kidney pills myself for a weakened condition of the kidneys and they proved just as satisfactory in my case. We both think there is no remedy like Doan's Kidney pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Advised to See Real France. Mr. A. Le Neven, in Modern Language Teaching, says: "If tourists would go farther on into old France, into the old provincial life, instead of remaining quartered in Paris or some other great city, they would really learn to know what French is like. They would feel they have wronged us, and they would acknowledge that French good wives, good mothers and good friends."

Don't use harsh physics. The reaction weakens the bowels, leads to chronic constipation. Get Doan's Regulates. They operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation.

Danish Edelweiss. The edelweiss that is sold in Switzerland this year, it appears, from the neighborhood of Copenhagen. The little Alpine flower has been so often gathered by tourists that it is becoming more and more rare on Swiss mountains.

Hives, eczema, itch or salt rheum sets you crazy. Can't bear the touch of your clothing. Doan's Ointment cures the most obstinate cases. Why suffer. All druggists sell it.

No Lasting Trace. "Daedalus," whispered the young lover tenderly, as he raised her sweet enameled face from his shoulder to gaze into her eyes, "what an impression you have made upon me!" "Oh, that'll brush off," she murmured lightly, as she flicked his coat collar with her fair fingers; "it's only face powder."

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep."—Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

Information from Abroad. We learn from the Paris Figaro that a clergymen's union has been formed in New York which is demanding higher salaries. The movement seems to be spreading for the American government to take the proper steps, 40 parsons have already renounced their charge in the state of Pittsburg.

Can't look well, eat well or feel well with impure blood feeding your body. Keep the blood pure with Burdock Blood Bitters. Eat simply, take exercise, keep clean and you will have long life.

The announcement that Mr. Frank Deshon, the little giant of comic opera, will be seen here Feb. 19 as "Billie Van Million" in Miss Bob White, has created an unusual amount of interest. Miss Bob White, as our readers know, is the daintiest, cleanest and most tuneful of the modern light operas, and has long been known as Willard Spenser's greatest success. Associated with Mr. Deshon will be found the following well known singers, namely: Lee McClure in his original role of "Artie Tre Billion," Matt Hanley as "The Duke of High Tides," William Laverty as "Lord Bashful," Joseph Leighton as "Friend Samuel Rod," J. J. Johnson as "Jack Hearn," Helen May as "Goldenrod," Zillah Harris as "Miss Bob White."

"The Lion and the Mouse." There is a great deal of novelty connected with "The Lion and the Mouse," a dramatic picture of household life connected with the career of a financial magnate, "Ready Money" Ryder, the central character of the play, who represents the money octopus of the present time. It is probably one of the greatest characterizations ever written into an American play. That the drama is one of the most successful ever produced in this country goes without saying. It entered an uninterrupted run in New York of two years and has been seen in almost every city of the United States. Henry B. Harris will offer the play to local theatregoers at Holland's Opera House Feb. 24.

Celebrated Minstrels Coming
Billy Kersand's Minstrels will be at Holland's Opera House, Friday night next, Feb. 14.

CRENSHAW CANNOT SERVE

Court of Appeals so Orders in The John Kelly case.

Attorney John Stites returned yesterday from Frankfort, where he went to secure from the Court of Appeals an order prohibiting Judge Robert Crenshaw from serving as special judge in the trial of Jno. W. Kelley, under indictment for embezzlement, at Cadiz. Mr. Stites succeeded in securing the order and as soon as certain formalities are complied with Gov. Willson will name a special judge to try the case.

Legal points have been passed upon by the Court of Appeals on a previous hearing, when the case was sent back for trial as soon as a judge is appointed, it is expected that a motion for change of venue will be made. Judge Douglas Bell, is assisting in the prosecution.

20 per Cent Money!

Say Mr. Professional man; Mr. Business Man; Mr. Farmer, and Thrifty Mrs. Housekeeper, don't you figure on any preposition that will make money earn the above ratio of percentage? Well we have a plain proposition to offer you. Watch our advertisements and then come and give us part of your business for cash or your monthly account and if we don't save you money, in fact make your money earn the above percentage, then you will know we are practicing deception and don't deserve your patronage. If we can save you money, then why not use good judgment and give us your trade. We do not claim that we sell everything cheaper, but do claim that we sell more goods cheaper than any house in Western Kentucky.

We buy in large quantities, pay spot cash, sell cheap, sell a heap and keep eternally at it.

SPECIALS—Standard Canned corn that is good 7 cents can—80 cents doz. Large size Tomatoes, can 8 cents—$1.00 doz. Old Fashioned Lye Hominy, 8 cents can—95 cents doz.
